

CZAR REVIEWS FRENCH TROOPS

One Hundred and Forty Thousand Soldiers Pass Before Him.

A PANIC IS CAUSED

Autocrat of Russia Mounted on a Superb Black Charger, Is Widely Cheered.

ALLIANCE IS POPULAR

Belknap, near Rheims, Sept. 21.—One hundred and forty thousand French soldiers in full campaign equipment marched in review before President Loubet and the czar of Russia here today.

Before the review began there was a panic among the crowd trying to reach one of the spectators' stands. When the gates were opened the pressure of the crowd broke the barriers and a stampede followed in which many women were crushed.

The czar was mounted on a superb black charger and the czarina and President Loubet were in landaus, attended by gorgeously attired aids. They rode around the inside of a square formed by the troops. The whole army stood at attention each division cheering as the czar passed. The czar acknowledged the cheering with a military salute. The party then returned to the reviewing pavilion and the troops began to file past.

DUAL ALLIANCE IS POPULAR

Czar's Visit Strengthens Friendship Between Russia and France

New York, Sept. 21.—Commenting on the visit of the czar to France, the Paris correspondent of the Tribune says: The receptions accorded to the czar and czarina and carried out under the most brilliant auspices at Dunkirk, Compiègne and Reims have aroused an enthusiasm throughout France quite equal to that which characterized the imperial visit five years ago.

The expressions "friend" and "ally" made use of by Nicholas II. and President Loubet in their toasts and speeches are felt here to be no mere empty compliment, but as indicating in simplest language the real strength and significance of the dual alliance, which has now been an accomplished fact for ten years, and the allusion made by President Loubet in calling attention to the fact that it was Alexandre Ribot, minister of foreign affairs in 1892, who was at that early date one of the principal architects of the Franco-Russian alliance is regarded as a graceful act of personal justice.

On the whole the French nation appears to be stirred with the same pride and with feelings as intense as during the former visit of Nicholas II., and there is so far not the slightest evidence that the Franco-Russian alliance has lost one whit of its attraction for Frenchmen of all shades and convictions in Paris and throughout the country.

CZOLGOSZ FEELS NO SORROW.

Says He Is an Anarchist and Simply Did His Duty.

Buffalo, N. Y., Sept. 21.—"What's the use of talking about that? I killed the president. I am an anarchist and simply did my duty. That's all I'll say."

Leon F. Czolgosz, the assassin of President McKinley, said those words to Frank A. Olozanowski, editor of Buffalo's Polish newspaper, but would say nothing further about the crime, while willing to talk freely about other subjects. Olozanowski paid his second visit to the assassin's cell. He was sent by the district attorney in pursuance of vain efforts to move the prisoner's stubborn tongue. Last week Olozanowski was unsuccessful in his attempts. Yesterday he went again.

"Czolgosz talked freely on every subject which I suggested except his crime," said Olozanowski. "His conversation would have been entertaining coming from a man other than the president's assassin. He talked on the Polish alliance and a variety of other subjects, but when I spoke of his crime he repeated his former declaration. Czolgosz is intelligent and I don't believe he will talk more."

Will Defend Czolgosz
Buffalo, Sept. 21.—Judges Titus and Loran this morning decided to defend Czolgosz. Despite the pressure of their friends they felt it was their duty to act on the case.

Abbott Defeats Cresceus
Readville, Miss., Sept. 21.—The Cresceus-Abbott match was won by the latter in 2:10 1-2.

Man Lashed to Raft Picked Up
Port Huron, Mich., Sept. 21.—W. D. Ragan, owner of the lost schooner Jupiter, who was supposed to have perished, was found by a fishing tug, lashed to a raft, according to a message from Southampton, Ont. He was alive and it is thought he will recover.

LA FOLLETTE MAY TAKE SHORT TRIP

Doctor Fox Intends Sending the Governor to an Indiana Spring for His Health.

Madison, Wis., September 21.—Because he was dissatisfied with the printed reports regarding the condition of Governor La Follette, John J. Kempf, member of the Republican state central committee and aspirant for appointment to the vacancy on the state board of control, came out from Milwaukee yesterday and had an interview with Dr. Philip Fox, the governor's physician.

"Dr. Fox told me," said Mr. Kempf after the interview, "that the governor's condition was as favorable as could be expected. He isn't able to take any solid food yet, but his liver is now working well. The doctor said that he hoped to take the governor to French Lick Springs, Ind., in about two weeks, or as soon as he was able to stand the journey. The governor was there a couple of years ago when he was afflicted much as he is now and the waters proved most beneficial."

Mr. Kempf urged Dr. Fox to issue periodical bulletins on the governor's condition, but the doctor said that was a matter that rested with the governor. If the latter wanted such bulletins issued they would be. On the whole Mr. Kempf was considerably encouraged by his talk with Dr. Fox.

NO RECEPTION FOR GEN. MACARTHUR

The Famous Wisconsin Soldier in the Philippines Visiting Friends in Milwaukee.

Milwaukee, Wis., September 21.—Major Gen. MacArthur arrived in Milwaukee yesterday afternoon and will remain in the city for about ten days. The general came unannounced and there will be no reception in his honor while here. He met a few of his old friends last night at the Plankinton house. To some he spoke about the teaching of patriotism in the Philippines.

"Those little Filipino children are learning the lesson of Americanism," he said. "In the schools, the children, ever since we secured control, have been taught American patriotic songs. They see the soldiers and hear our bands and quickly pick up the words and music. At first it offended me old Spaniards to see the little tots organize as soldiers with their drums made of tin cans and an American flag at the head marching through the streets. I have orders for duty on the board to examine and report upon brevet medals of honor and all rewards for officers and soldiers who served in Porto Rico, Cuba, China and the Philippines. This report must be ready to submit to congress in December. This duty will continue until about November 15, when it is probable that I shall be ordered to Denver."

BEATS ANARCHIST TO DEATH.

Fishermen Assault Sympathizer of Assassins and Throw Him Overboard.

Norfolk, Va., Sept. 21.—The captain of a small oyster sloop has arrived here, and states that shortly after President McKinley was shot a Pole appeared at Bivalve, Md., and secured a place as hand on a sloop. The day after the president died a passenger on a passing steamer threw a newspaper aboard the sloop containing an account of the death. The Pole secured it and while the crew were waiting for him to read them the story he exclaimed: "Good, and Teddy will be next in a short time." The crew set upon him and severely injured him, rendering him either unconscious or lifeless and then picked up the unconscious man and threw him overboard.

BIG WHEEL COLLAPSES.

Sixteen Injured by Breakage of County Fair Carry-All.

Flint, Mich., Sept. 21.—A Ferris wheel collapsed on the Genesee county fair grounds yesterday. Sixteen persons were riding on the wheel when it crashed to the ground.

Fred Boardman of Ionia, Mich., the ticket seller, received probably fatal injuries; Joseph Depaire of Chicago had his face smashed and jaw broken and will probably die. The little daughter and son of the Rev. C. A. Lippincott of this place received internal injuries. Bessie Weeks, their nurse, was also hurt.

The owner of the wheel fled after the accident and cannot be found.

Build New Coal Sheds

The Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railroad have taken away the old coal sheds just beyond the Five Points and are erecting a modern coal chute in place of them. The heavy piling for the inclined track running up to the shed is already in place. When completed the chute will be a great improvement over the old fashioned way of coaling the engines with buckets. All passenger trains running into this city over the St. Paul will soon be equipped with the large Atlantic type engines, which are built to pull heavy trains and make fast time. Two new passenger trains called the north Dakota express will soon be run through this city over the Janesville and Southeastern.

MRS. M'KINLEY KEEPS IMPROVING; SHE IS NOT BEING GIVEN OPIATES

The Widow of the Late President Suffers Acute Pain Almost Constantly—Dr. Rixey is Doing His Utmost to Keep Her Nerves Quiet.

Canton, O., Sept. 21.—"Mrs. McKinley slept well last night and is in as good condition this morning as could be expected under the circumstances," said Dr. Rixey to your correspondent. "Mrs. McKinley suffers acute pain almost constantly," the doctor continued, "and this we can only partly allay. I am doing my utmost to keep her nerves quiet, but I wish to protest against stories to the effect that she is kept almost completely under the influence of opiates."

"Nothing has been given her that would cloud her intellect. On the other hand, we are constantly striving to get her interested in matters associated with her late husband, his death and the obsequies. I cannot predict results, but I am hopeful."

"No one except the family members who have been constantly with her is permitted to see Mrs. McKinley. I do not think she will be able to leave her bed today."

A dozen soldiers are still on guard at the McKinley house and all who approach are challenged, despite the fact that tens of thousands passed the place yesterday or stood in the surging throng that congested the streets for two blocks on either side. Hundreds loitered curiously there today.

Several thousand visitors remain, having been unable last night to get away. The trains were crowded to suffocation and there was not a spare cot in Canton. Hundreds slept in chairs, unable to find accommodations.

Mrs. McKinley's Grief Intense
Canton, September 21.—Dr. Rixey gave out his statement this morning: "Mrs. McKinley's grief is intense. She is doing as well as could be expected. Too much encouragement should not be taken at his early day."

SLASHES THROAT WITH A RAZOR

Traveling Man Attempts Suicide at Milwaukee, and Uses Hat To Hold the Blood.

Milwaukee, Wis., September 21.—A remarkable attempt at suicide was made yesterday by Thomas Bosford who is believed to be a traveling man from Indianapolis, although he registered at the Davidson hotel as from New York. Leaving the hotel, he rode on a street car to the end of the line, went to the dwelling of Emil Hobbs, 1226 Twenty-third street, knocked, found no one at home and the door unlocked, entered, locked the door after him, removed his coat and vest, cut a six-inch gash in his throat with his penknife, lit a cigar and was found smoking and holding his hat to catch the blood which was spurting in torrents from the wound and which had nearly filled the hat.

When Bosford was asked what he was doing by the police officer who found him, he said he did not want to sell the floor or make any more trouble than possible, because he did not know the people who owned the house. His hat was full of blood, but owing to the thoughtfulness of the man there was but little on the carpet. He appeared sane and unconcerned.

At the Emergency hospital it was thought that he might live, for the cut although deep, missed the jugular vein. He is about 40 years of age and has been at the Davidson hotel frequently, but nothing is known about his business. He had no money when taken to the hospital.

COCHEMS TO PLAY HALF BACK

Wisconsin Team Will Have Badger as Mascot This Year

Madison, Wis., Sept. 21.—Captain Art Curtis and Eddie Cochems joined the football squad for practice this afternoon for the first time. Cochems went in at half back and will probably play that position. The Wisconsin team will have a new and appropriate mascot this year in the shape of a live badger. Emil Skow, the husky center, caught and tamed the animal in the northern part of the state this summer and has sent for it.

Snow in New Hampshire

Mount Washington, N. H., Sept. 21.—Two inches of snow fell last night on the mountain. The temperature was 28 degrees.

DOES NOT THINK A GUARD IS NEEDED; ROOSEVELT OBJECTS TO BODY GUARD

Frowns on All Efforts of Secret Service to Follow Him About—Walked Out Alone Yesterday.

Washington, D. C., September 21.—President Roosevelt has no notion of guarding himself from the bullet of an assassin by any extraordinary means. From the time of his arrival at Buffalo, the president has persistently frowned down upon the well meant efforts of the secret service and other officials to provide him a bodyguard day and night.

The suggestion of it seemed to annoy him exceedingly. He has been guarded persistently nevertheless, although the detectives were always at a distance. Yesterday afternoon he stole a march upon them and upon the White House attaches as well, and put in practice his favorite theory that he is safe in the hands of the people in spite of the fate of President McKinley.

Soon after noon, having finished some temporary work in his office up stairs President Roosevelt seized his hat, and in his usual impetuous fashion, and before anyone knew what was going on, bolted through the doors of the White House and soon was steaming along through the parks in front of the executive mansion. The president had passed the White House

DELMONICO IS DEAD; RESTAURANT MAN

Smoked 100 Cigarettes a Day, Which Cost Him Six Cents Each—Wore Fine Linen.

Colorado Springs, Colo., Sept. 21.—Charles C. Delmonico, for several years manager and proprietor of Delmonico's restaurant in New York city, died at his home here yesterday.

His wife, who was with him, took the remains to New York City last night. He was 40 years old. He had traveled extensively and was well known. He was a nephew of the original founder of Delmonico's.

One of his peculiarities was that he seldom if ever dined at his own restaurant. When the establishment was at Twenty-sixth street it was his custom to leave the place at 6 p. m. and go over to Sixth avenue to O'Neill's or Bristol's, or to Twenty-third street or Dorlon's or Clark's. He was a great cigarette smoker, scarcely ever being seen without one of the Turkish brand. He had them made especially for himself, at a cost of six cents apiece, and it said he used 100 a day.

He was short of stature, plump and of a merry face, which was sometimes adorned with a Vandyke beard and sometimes close shaven. No linen was too fine for him, and no fabrics too costly. One of his friends, Walter Murphy, who was his schoolmate, said Delmonico's trousers cost $500 a pair and his handkerchiefs $1,000 a dozen.

VESSEL INSIDE LINE OF BLOCKADE

Commander Haber on the Stand in the Schley Inquiry Court Trial at Washington Today.

Washington, September 21.—Today's session of the Schley court of inquiry opened with Commander Gifford Haber on the stand. Schley's counsel cross examined Haber on his statement of yesterday that no picket vessels were stationed inside the line of blockade at Cienfuegos when the flying squadron arrived in that port. The official report was produced in which it was stated that three vessels acted as picket. Haber said that he would not contradict the report.

Plans for the reorganization of the Seventh National bank were approved today by Comptroller Dawes. Every depositor will be paid in full. The appointment of Ridgely of Illinois to be comptroller of the currency was officially announced this morning.

CONDEMN HIGH CRITICISM.

Resolutions to Be Considered by Puget Sound Methodists.

Tacoma, Wash., Sept. 21.—Yesterday at the Puget Sound conference of the Methodist Episcopal church, now in session at Olympia, the Rev. H. D. Brown, pastor of the Battery Street church, Seattle, introduced a sensational set of resolutions. They condemn what is known in the church as the "higher criticism."

The resolutions are phrased in the strongest language and recommend a boycott of the Boston Theological seminary and the Garrett Biblical Institute in that they advise that young men seeking to enter the ministry of the Methodist church be urged to go to other institutions than those named. It is further urged that all graduates of those institutions be thoroughly scrutinized before being admitted into the ministry of the church.

The resolutions were referred to a special committee with instructions to report tomorrow morning.

FILIPINOS ARE PROGRESSING.

Senator Dietrich Is Pleased with Situation in the Islands.

San Francisco, Cal., Sept. 21.—United States Senator C. H. Dietrich of Nebraska, who has been on a visit to the Philippines, returned in the Nippon Maru and immediately started for his home. He left there June 20 on the transport Hancock for Manila in company with Adjt.-Gen. Corbin, Gen. Weston and Congressman Julius Kahn. Soon after reaching the Philippines these officials, with Surgeon-General Sternberg, made a circuit of the archipelago in the transport Lawton. All were highly pleased with the progress made under American administration, no dissatisfaction among the Filipinos being apparent. The more southerly parts of the islands, of which comparatively little could be heard, were found to be prosperous, with Americans and Filipinos fraternizing. The future of the Philippines, in the opinion of Senator Dietrich, is very promising.

Runaway on Milwaukee Street

A pair of horses attached to a milk wagon belonging to C. Knudson, started near Corn Exchange square this morning and ran away down Milwaukee street across the bridge and up East Milwaukee street to a point near the opera house where they were stopped by Charles Thompson, the driver of the Myers house bus, who rushed out and caught them and hung on until they stopped. The runaway was caused by the neck yoke coming loose from the pole and allowing it to drop down. The horses made a lively run, the wagon swaying from one side of the street to the other. They were finally stopped before any serious damage was done.

WAS MAROONED ON POLAR ICE

Alleged Desertion of Dr. Diedrick, a Member of Peary Party.

COULD NOT AGREE

The Doctor Has No Provisions, and Must Kill Wild Game or Starve.

ALONE AMONG THE ICE

Boston, Mass., Sept. 21.—Lieutenant Robert E. Peary, the arctic explorer, is charged by the engineer of the ship with putting ashore and abandoning far up in the north Dr. Diedrick, the surgeon and physician of the Windward. The action is said to have resulted from a quarrel. The engineer, Staats, who was in the party on its voyage to the north, is direct in his accusations, and warrants the use of his name in the interview telling of the dispute. If the statements of Engineer Staats are true, Lieutenant Peary, and Dr. Diedrick, the surgeon and physician chosen to administer to the wants of the explorer and his men, did not live amicably, even from the time the party reached Sydney, Cape Breton, on the way north. Constant quarrelling between the chief of the expedition and Dr. Diedrick resulted in many threats being made by Peary and the latter. These resulted in the abandoning of the doctor at Etah, Greenland, in latitude 79 degrees 10 minutes north. Put ashore at 2 o'clock in the morning of Aug. 17 last, Dr. Diedrick was without any food whatsoever, and the only means he had of protecting himself from the assaults of the polar bears and other wild animals of the north were a few guns and a little ammunition. What his fate will be is hard to imagine. His only means of procuring sustenance will be by shooting walrus and seal. According to Mr. Staats, little sorrow was expressed by Lieutenant Peary and the seven members of the expedition. Etah is a town in name only. It is as barren and cold as the rest of the surrounding ice fields, save for the inhabiting of the spot by a group of Eskimos, not more than fifty in number, and these live in shanty huts built of ice and snow. One of the Peary storehouses is situated there, but nothing but hard blacuts is kept in stock. These, with their meat, might get from the killing of a walrus or the slaying of a bear, are the only encouraging prospects held out for the exiled man, according to the returned traveler. It has been intimated in a private dispatch from Sydney that the real cause of the quarrel between Peary and his subordinate was due to a dispute in regard to the reported discovery of enormous gold and diamond fields in the far north.

VENEZUELA FORCE BADLY ROUTED

Colombian Government Troops Defeat the Invaders Under Davila—Surprised the Camp.

Port of Spain, Trinidad, Sept. 21.—A dispatch from a Colombian consul announces that the second invading army, commanded by the Venezuelan General Davila has been decisively defeated by the Colombian government troops on the frontier. A force of 180 Venezuelan revolutionists from Trinidad landed on the Venezuelan coast of the Guajira Peninsula on Sept. 14. The Venezuelan regular troops surprised the camp, and, after a brief fight, the revolutionists fled to the mountains.

LASHED TO A RAFT IN THE ICY WAVES

Owner of the Schooner Jupiter Found But Three of His Crew Were Drowned.

Port Huron, Mich., September 21.—A message was received from Southampton, Ont., this morning which states that W. D. Ragan, owner of the lost steamer Jupiter, who was supposed to have perished, was found by a fishing tug, lashed to a raft, ten miles out from Loyal Island. He was alive and it is thought that he will recover from his terrible experience. Mr. Ragan drifted about Lake Huron on the improvised raft without food, and soaked to the skin by the seas which broke constantly over his support. Nothing is said about the other members of the crew who were on the raft with him, and it is thought that they were washed off and drowned.

Boers Make a Raid

Pietermaritzburg, Sept. 21.—The Boers captured a lot of horses and cattle on the upper Tugela Monday. It is believed that the British garrison at Acton Homes afterward engaged with the Boers, but details are unavailable.

THE HOME OF ELLA WHEELER WILCOX.

From the Milwaukee Sentinel.

De Forest, Wis., Sept. 21.—This humble dwelling was for more than twenty years the home of the famous poetess—Mrs. Ella Wheeler Wilcox. Her parents took up their residence in this house when she was one year old, and it was her only home until her happy marriage in 1884, since which time she has lived in New York. There was some controversy in Madison some years ago as to where she was from, some maintaining that she first saw the light in this house, but her birthplace is an obscure village in Rock county, Wisconsin called Johnson's Center, or Johnson's Corner.

The "old Wheeler place" as it is known here, lies about twelve miles north of Madison, in the town of Westport. The little village of Windsor, the present home of one of Mrs. Wilcox's brothers and many of her most intimate friends, is about three miles to the east, and De Forest is some five miles to the north and east. The house stands only a few rods south of a public road, running westward from Windsor, and is an object of great interest to every-passer-by familiar with the name and achievements of Wisconsin's poetess.

The little building is of wood, and has been neither enlarged nor changed since Mrs. Wilcox's departure. The addition in the rear and the wing on the left were built by the poetess out of the proceeds derived from the sale of her celebrated book, "Poems of Passion." The walls are in need of paint, and show unmistakable signs of old age.

The surroundings of the dwelling are pleasant and quite cheerful. In front is a small grove of luscious cedars, among which Mrs. Wilcox played as a child when they were young, and in whose shade she composed many of her early poems. Farther to the north, across the public road, is a larger grove of Lombardy poplars, which surround and screen from view the farm buildings of a neighbor. Behind the house rises a low hill, which served as a sort of observatory for the young poetess during those long and weary years while she waited for fame and fortune.

The old house is now occupied by a brother of Mrs. Wilcox, Edward Wheeler, and his family. He is an interesting man, and shares with his famous sister the gift of expression, although his tastes run in a different direction. He takes but little interest in his sister's writings and does not approve of them.

"I have several of her books in the house," he said, "but I haven't read one of them. There's too much love in them for me. Such things as she writes about might have suited me better if I were young, but they don't suit me now."

The village of Windsor was the place where Mrs. Wilcox's parents did their shopping, and where they got their mail; and is now closely associated with the name of the author. It was also for some time the home of her mother, who removed thither after the death of her husband a number of years ago. Mrs. Wilcox has a strong love for her mother, and every year came all the way from New York to visit her. Three years ago she persuaded her to accompany her to the great metropolis, where she now cares for her at her own home.—Milwaukee Sentinel.

MAYOR OFFERS CITY BONDS FOR SALE FOR LIBRARY AND CITY HALL SITES

These Bonds in the Sum of $65,000, Are Now Ready for Issue, and Will Be Sold by Popular Subscription—A Safe Investment.

To the Citizens of Janesville: By an ordinance of the City Council passed July 22, 1901, the Mayor was authorized to sell 130 bonds of $500 each, total $65,000 for the purchase of a site for the Library and City Hall, and the erection of the latter.

These bonds are now ready for issue and will be sold as of date October 1. Such bonds are usually sold in the open market to the highest bidder, the entire issue going to one person or firm. Such a sale of necessity bars out the small investors and throws the entire issue into the hands of large dealers or banks, who alone can command the necessary capital. The small investor can then secure the bonds only by paying a commission to the dealer.

Believing that it is for the best interests of the city of Janesville that these bonds should be distributed as much as possible among her citizens, I take this method of offering them to the public. The bonds draw 4 per cent interest. They will be sold to subscribers at a price to net them 3 1/2 per cent interest. Subscriptions can be filed with the City Treasurer up to 12 o'clock noon, September 30, 1901.

In order that investors may fully understand the price they will be required to pay for said bonds I give in the table below the number of bonds, the face value, the interest they bear, the date of maturity and the price at which they will be sold.

Six bonds, $500.00 each 4 per cent interest, due November 1, 1902; price $502.42 each.

Six bonds, $500.00 each 4 per cent interest, due November 1, 1903; price $504.67 each.

Six bonds, $500.00 each 4 per cent interest, due November 1, 1904; price $506.78 each.

Seven bonds, $500.00 each 4 per cent interest, due November 1, 1905; price $508.77 each.

Seven bonds, $500.00 each 4 per cent interest, due November 1, 1906; price $510.63 each.

Seven bonds, $500.00 each 4 per cent interest, due November 1, 1907; price $512.39 each.

Seven bonds, $500.00 each 4 per cent interest, due November 1, 1908; price $514.05 each.

Seven bonds, $500.00 each 4 per cent interest, due November 1, 1909; price $515.62 each.

Seven bonds, $500.00 each 4 per cent interest, due November 1, 1910; price $517.12 each.

Seven bonds, $500.00 each 4 per cent interest, due November 1, 1911; price $518.52 each.

Seven bonds, $500.00 each 4 per cent interest, due November 1, 1912; price $519.86 each.

Seven bonds, $500.00 each 4 per cent interest, due November 1, 1913; price $521.12 each.

Seven bonds, $500.00 each 4 per cent interest, due November 1, 1914; price $522.34 each.

Seven bonds, $500.00 each 4 per cent interest, due November 1, 1915; price $523.49 each.

Seven bonds, $500.00 each 4 per cent interest, due November 1, 1916; price $524.60 each.

Seven bonds, $500.00 each 4 per cent interest, due November 1, 1917; price $525.65 each.

Seven bonds, $500.00 each 4 per cent interest, due November 1, 1918; price $526.66 each.

Seven bonds, $500.00 each 4 per cent interest, due November 1, 1919; price $527.62 each.

Seven bonds, $500.00 each 4 per cent interest, due November 1, 1920; price $528.54 each.

As it is my desire to distribute these bonds as widely as possible among bona fide subscribers, I reserve the right to limit the amount sold to any one subscriber to $5,000. In case all the bonds are not sold as above I further reserve the right to determine which bonds, as to date of maturity, shall be sold as it is desirable that the bonds left after above sale should be as nearly as possible of the same maturity. All bonds not sold as above will be advertised and sold in the usual way.

There can be no question as to the value and security of above bonds as the assessed value of the property in this city is over $9,000,000, and the present bonded indebtedness is but $42,000.

I will be pleased to give any further information possible with regard to above bonds to those contemplating subscribing for same.

VICTOR P. RICHARDSON, Mayor.

An Informal Hop Misses Jessie Spellman, Lillian Monat and Retta Whitton were the hostesses at an informal hop given at the Golf club house last evening, their guests being a number of their young friends. The merry company was chaperoned by Mesdames J. L. Spellman, H. G. Carter and Mary L. Whitton.

The club house had been handsomely decorated with autumn leaves, branches of richly colored foliage and pretty trailing vines and the pretty dance hall never presented a more attractive appearance. Happy informality was the order of the evening and everyone had a jolly time. It was a program dance and pretty programs were retained by the guests as souvenirs of the occasion. The evening was spent in dancing, the favorite pastime of the young. Roy Carter furnishing some of his best music for the dances. Light refreshments were served and the party was such an enjoyable one that the hour of midnight and the carriages to take the merry-makers home came all too soon for those who had enjoyed the charming entertainment provided by their hostesses.

The Small of the Back

That is where some people feel weak all the time.

They are likely to be despondent and it is not unusual to find them sorrowing trouble as if they hadn't enough already.

The fact is their kidneys are weak, either naturally or because of sickness, exposure, worry or other influences.

"I am thankful to say," writes J. L. Campbell, of Sycamore, Ill., "that Hood's Sarsaparilla has cured me. For many years I was troubled with backache. At times I was so bad I had to be helped from the bed or chair. I am now well and strong and free from pain." What this great medicine did for him it has done for others.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Promises to cure and keeps the promise. Begin treatment with Hood's today.

THE ADAMS SCHOOL WINS THE BANNER

Gets the Prize for the Greatest Improvement in Appearance of School Grounds.

The Adams school is the winner of the handsome banner offered by Supt. D. D. Mayne to the school making the greatest improvement in the appearance of the grounds during the spring and summer. As a natural consequence the accompanying prize of $10, also offered by Supt. Mayne will go to R. P. Young, the janitor of the school.

The members of the committee appointed to award the prizes have paid several visits to the several schools during the summer and have been pleased and gratified by the marked improvement made in almost every instance.

So impressed have they been with the value of the movement and so interested have they become in it that the members of the committee, Edwin S. Field, Thomas O. Howe and A. E. Matheson, have decided to offer two cash prizes to accompany the banner next year. The banner, of course, will be re-awarded next autumn and the committee will give a prize of $10 to the janitor of the school winning the banner and $5 to the janitor of the school ranking second.

Great interest has been manifested in the beautifying of the school grounds and the hard work done by teachers, scholars and janitors has received material encouragement in many instances. The results would have been much better if it had not been for the unprecedented heat and drought of the summer.

The complete report of the committee is very extensive and mentions the work done at each school in detail. It will be published in full in Monday evening's Gazette and will be read with interest by the members and friends of the several schools.

Was Only a Rumor—A special dispatch from Madison says:

"There was a fire-alarm rumor in the state house yesterday to the effect that in the eyes of the public for the come worse and Dr. Senn, the eminent specialist, had been brought here on a special train. The rumor gained considerable credence, but an investigation showed it to be untrue. The attendants of the governor said that there was absolutely nothing in it, and the railroad officials said that no special train had been run here for Dr. Senn. Several days ago a special brought Dr. Billings, an eminent physician of Chicago, here for consultation in the case of Mrs. F. B. Duncan, the evangelist's wife who died yesterday."

C. K. Miltimore attended the fair at Elkhorn yesterday.

Life insurance is good for your family. Health insurance is good for both YOU and your family.

You collect health insurance by living. You have to die before life insurance can be collected.

If you knew your health was threatened you'd insure it if you could. You can insure your health.

The stomach is the vital center of the body. The whole body is nourished from the stomach. The blood is made in the stomach. A disordered stomach means disordered blood, disordered body, disordered brain. You never heard of a sick person with a sound stomach.

Make your stomach sound and you insure your health.

How? As thousands of others have done by the use of Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It's the one sure medicine for the stomach. It heals. It strengthens.

"Words fail to express what I suffered for three years, with cold chills, palpitation of heart, shortness of breath, and low spirits," writes Mrs. A. C. Jones, of Waterboro, Colleton Co., S. C. "I could not sleep and really thought I would soon die. Had a peculiar roaring through my head at the time. Was so emaciated and weak I could not feed myself. My aunt induced me to try Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, which I did, only to please her, and six bottles cured me. To-day am sound and well. During the three years I was sick I had five different physicians."

Consult Dr. Pierce by letter, free. All correspondence private. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

of getting glasses. One is to go to the nearest permanent located Optician and get what you need, and a guarantee that they will be satisfactory, if not, they will be exchanged free, or money back. The other is to let some traveling peddler sell you a pair and run the risk of ruining your eyesight entirely, and when he's got your money, you never see him again. We have every late and scientific appliance for accurate eye testing, and sell spectacles at all prices.

of the Latest DESIGNS IN THIS YEAR'S HATS.

A popular pattern that is very pretty, provided the hair is heavy and dressed low. It is quite difficult, if not impossible, to trim a hat that will look choice on any lady who does not have a reasonable amount of hair. This being the case it is much more important that the hair should receive the first and closest attention. Just a month or two's treatment with Banderine, the great hair and scalp tonic, will invigorate the hair and scalp sufficiently to insure luxuriant and beautiful growth of hair. It makes the hair soft, glossy, silky and fluffy without changing the natural color a particle. It is repented by every one who uses it to be the best remedy of its kind ever discovered. Now at all druggists in three sizes—25c, 50c and $1.00 per bottle. Be sure you get the genuine, made only by the Keweenaw Banderine Co., Chicago, Ill. For sale by King's pharmacy and Peoples' Drug Co.

THE LESSONS OF LIFE.

"Get your books together, Johnnie, the school bell will ring in half an hour and you must be on time." Johnny was busy with his play but he stopped long enough to tell his mother that he hated school, and wished that the man who made books had never learned how.

But the mother was persistent, as all good mothers are, and a few minutes later Johnnie with the much disused books under his arm, and rebellion in his heart, was trudging along to school, soliloquizing as he went, "What do I care for school?" "What's the use of learning anything, anyway. Wish I was a bird then I wouldn't have to go to school." But he went and the hard lesson became easy under the skillful direction of a good teacher, and the period of restless childhood was followed by the age of impulsive youth, and crowned by mature and thoughtful manhood, and all because Johnnie had a mother who thought and planned for him, holding him to his task however irksome, until reason and judgment assumed control.

Some one has said men are but children of a larger growth, and the statement expresses a great deal of truth.

The principle difference is that the mother is missing or forgotten, after the years of maturity, and many of us need a guiding hand, and controlling influence, well on into the years of manhood.

The boy graduates from the high school at twenty or from the college a few years later. He carries away a diploma that speaks well for his scholarship and mental attainment, and framing it to adorn the walls of his room, imagines that it is a passport to success in any calling that he may select, and that he is the embodiment of knowledge and a general encyclopedia of useful information that the great outside world is waiting to absorb.

The great university of life, that the boy is about to enter is a hard and practical school, where success is won, or failure encountered, and where the great class of struggling humanity is absorbed in personal welfare.

The professors in this large school are the everyday experiences of life and the lessons are frequently distasteful, and extremely difficult. The discipline is the iron clad rule of duty, and the penalty for disobedience is disaster.

The older Johnnie says, "I don't like the school and I won't go," but he is talking to the wind with no loving influence to hold him to the task and if he becomes a truant, he suffers the consequences, and the world moves on without missing him from the ranks. He is a deserter but nobody cares and he is the sufferer.

Did you ever experience the feeling of personal responsibility that comes to all thoughtful young men as they stand on the edge of life's great activities and peering into the uncertain future, realize for the first time that you are your own man, free from all restraint, and at liberty to exercise your own judgment and be directed by your own will?

If this experience has come to you, as it has to many men, who have worked out for themselves a destiny and won an inheritance in the busy turmoil of life's great school room, one of the prominent features has been a feeling of homesickness, as you were about to take up the burden of new and untried experiences. You go back to the old home after a few months absence, and when the mother keeps on chatting when the old clock strikes ten, you remember that not so long ago she used to say, "Come, my boy put up your book and go to bed." You wake up at daylight in the little low chamber where your boyhood dreams pictured air castles and listen in vain for your father's familiar call, and then it comes over you that you are no longer the boy in the home, but your own free man, and as you turn over for another nap, a shade of homesickness comes over you, and you appreciate as never before the grave responsibilities of independent manhood.

There's nothing to be ashamed of in this kind of an experience, whether it comes to the farmer boy or the city youth. It is one of the lessons assigned by a good professor, and if thoughtfully considered you take out of the old home after your first visit, new determination and holler ambition receives new impetus, and life takes on more sturdy development.

Life is very largely what we make it, and the structure is crude or symmetrical as we neglect or improve the great lessons that follow each other in rapid succession.

The school of life is a graded school. Many people are content to remain in the primary department. Ambition never prompts them to venture far, and lack of confidence in themselves and others keep them plodding near the starting point, better this than reckless venture and dishonest effort, but far short of the ideal.

A still larger class are found in the intermediate department, working with a will, and investing brain and muscle in an effort to gain prize. Success not unfrequently comes to their effort, for the recruits that make up the more limited class of graduates, are from the ranks of this class of intelligent toilers.

The lessons of life are so varied and human experiences are so diversified, that many perplexing questions are constantly demanding solution. The highest measure of success comes to the man or woman who patiently and faithfully work out the problems and after investing energy and intelligent ambition and exhausting human effort, leaves results to the God of destiny, realizing that He has an abiding interest in the welfare of humanity.

The school year just commenced that calls together an army of children and young people is favored with an object lesson, so sad and yet so significant, that it should stamp an impress on the mind, that time cannot efface.

The dead president was a graduate in the great college of life. Experiences crowded upon him lesson after lesson, and with mental vision clear and strong he never hesitated. He possessed not only brain equipment in rare degree, but the main spring of action was a heart in sympathy with humanity, and throbbing with Divine impulses.

When the last great experience came to him and he stood in the shadow waiting for the call of the father, his great heart prompted the expression of immortal words uttered by the Son so long ago, "Thy will, not mine, be done."

This life and this death should be an inspiration to every boy and girl as they take up the work of the school year, as it will be an inspiration to every man and woman who is toiling in the great university of life.

RIGHTEOUS INDIGNATION.
Righteous indignation prompted the people of New York to set the seal of public condemnation on the yellow journalist, W. R. Hearst, by placards proclaiming him as the real assassin of the president, and demanded that he be downed and yellow journalism abolished.

This vigorous treatment was not the act of hoodlums, but was an expression of the public sentiment, that prevails today, not only in New York, but throughout the country. The people have occasion to realize for the first time that the viper they have cherished, and taken into their homes is venomous and extremely dangerous.

The hanging of Mr. Hearst in effigy, will not wipe out the evil, but it says in tones that every sensational publisher should understand reform. The American people will no longer tolerate this class of corruption.

If the spirit that prompted this expression of indignation is cultivated until it bears practical results, every home in the land will avoid the yellow journal as it would a viper and it will find enforced retirement, for lack of support. It is well to preach down an evil, but far more effective to practice what we preach.

THE BOND ISSUE.

Mayor Richardson has very wisely decided to offer the new issue of city bonds to Janesville people. The only mistake made, if any, is in the size of the bonds, which may inconvenience small investors.

The plan is novel and the mayor was uncertain of its popularity. The bonds are of the denomination of $500 so that they can be more readily placed if the city is obliged to throw them on the market. They run for a term of years, as will be seen in another column and are a desirable investment.

Kansas is capable of almost anything in the way of freaks, and the latest is a new political organization known as the "Allied Party." Its declaration of principles includes all there is of populism, a liberal slice of socialism and a general spirit of unrest that carried to its legitimate conclusion is a breeder of anarchy. It is about time for Kansas to call a halt and cultivate common sense.

Carrie Nation proposes to shoot the Niagara rapids in a barrel. She will be unattended on the trip and will have no use for a hatchet. Carrie believes in water as a beverage, enjoys a bath in the surf, and will now attempt to navigate on its ruffled surface in a barrel. She may lose some of her lofty ideals, but the barrel will escape.

The difference between Lieutenant Governor Stone and Private Secretary Murphy is that the former is the chosen servant of the people while the latter is the servant of the governor. The people have a claim on the former and this claim should be recognized.

Admiral Schley will now receive attention and the dignity of the American navy, will be upheld.

PRESS COMMENT

Racine Journal: Whether the fatal bullet was actually poisoned or not will never be known, but there were poisoned bullets of another kind, but yet deadly being fired at William McKinley by the yellow press and fanatics of all varieties.

Madison Journal: There is a quiescence about the faculty of Chicago university since Triggs broke loose that suggests Mr. Rockefeller may have taken his pen in hand. The educated donkey should be kept behind wire like Leghorns and other nervous breeds.

Grant Co. Herald: In Ireland woman's hair is placed about a child to keep harm away. Over here a woman's hair will send a 20-pound man into spasms if discovered in the locality of the butter, and if found on a man's collar will send his wife to a divorce lawyer.

PHILOSOPHY OF THE STREET.

With most people the act of falling in or out of love is merely a matter of accident.

It takes a conceited person to be able to look back on the past with more pleasure than regret.

The man who goes shopping for bargains is one of the main causes why the new woman is becoming unduly prominent.

Some day there will come a man wise enough to invent a way for not looking awkward.

A man ought to be well-fixed financially before he begins to indulge in the luxury of relating reminiscences if he does not want to be voted a bore. Milwaukee Journal.

Taken to the Asylum
Ole Erickson, of Beloit, a man about sixty years of age was taken to Mendota today by Sheriff Maltress. Erickson has imagined for some time that he had committed a wrong and became unbalanced. He was taken to the county asylum, but as he grew no better he was examined by a commission of doctors, who pronounced him insane. Judge Sale ordered him to be taken to Mendota for treatment.

Kodol Dyspepsia Cure

Digests what you Eat

Many digestive compounds and tablets are recommended to cure dyspepsia by digesting food with the pepsin they contain. Most of these possess merit, but they all fall in many cases, because pepsin digests only albuminous foods, such as eggs and meat. But we must eat more than eggs and meat; and some of the worst cases of dyspepsia are caused by indigestion of fats and starches and other foods which pepsin cannot digest. There is one preparation that contains all the digestants. It is KODOL DYSPEPSIA CURE, which digests what you eat, and has been used with remarkable success,—not a single failure to cure being reported from the many thousands who have used it. J. E. Peabody, Pittsfield, N. Y., says: "The first dose of Kodol Dyspepsia Cure relieved my son of stomach and heart trouble, and four bottles of it cured him. I heartily recommend it."

It can't help but do you good

Prepared by E. C. DeWitt & Co., Chicago. The 51c. bottle contains 2 1/2 times the 25c. size. When you suffer from biliousness or constipation, use the famous little liver pills known as DeWitt's Little EARLY RISERS. They never gripe. For sale by M'CUE & BUSS.

WESLEY TEA AT FIRST M. E. CHURCH

EPWORTH LEAGUE ENTERTAINS ELDERLY PEOPLE.

Church parlors were elaborately decorated with shocks of corn, ripened oats and wheat and cut flowers—Brief informal "Love Feast" followed the supper.

Under the attractive name of Wesleyton, a novel and very enjoyable reception was given in the parlors of the First M. E. church yesterday afternoon. The reception was given by the literary and social departments of the Epworth League for the elderly people of the church, the stipulation being that the guests must be over sixty years of age. In spite of this, however, a few who had not quite reached the required milestone were permitted to be present and share in the pleasures of the occasion.

The invitations were for from 4 to 7:30 o'clock and as the guests arrived they received a warm welcome. Presiding Elder and Mrs. W. W. Stevens and Rev. and Mrs. W. V. Woodside assisting as members of the reception committee. Over an hour was spent in a delightfully social manner and then the guests were invited to the daintily spread tables, on each one of which stood a great cluster of pure white asters. The parlors were elaborately decorated with shocks of corn, ripened oats and wheat and bouquets of cut flowers. A fine picture of Wesley occupied a prominent place on the wall.

Mr. Mendenhall was the oldest guest at the tables, he being ninety years of age. The supper which was served was a delicious one, the menu including many dainties. The service was faultless, members of the two committees of the Epworth League caring for the wants of the guests.

Perhaps even more than the good things to eat the guests prized the pretty and unique souvenir cards which lay at each plate. On the card was a large outline drawing of a teapot and within it was the picture of the old Wesley teapot on the face of which is the well-known four-line grace in rhyme which begins, "Be present at our table, Lord." The cards were printed in red on white, the Epworth League colors, and the Wesley grace was sung by the guests before supper.

The guests were about sixty in number and after supper there was a brief informal "love feast" as Reverend Woodside, who had charge of it, called it. Rev. Woodside said that the meeting was to be wholly informal.

He was glad that it had been in the mind of the young people to plan such an entertainment and he knew that the older people were glad to be there. Such a reception was unmistakable evidence that the old people were loved and remembered by the young people. The speaker used to talk of old age as going down the western hill but now he knew that growing old was not going down hill but upward toward brightness and beauty. He hoped everyone present would have a golden sunset.

Miss Alice Clithero read very prettily and feelingly a beautiful poem "Growing Old," after which Presiding Elder Stevens was asked to say a few words. He said there is at least one thing in which everyone is alike; all are growing old. It is a beautiful thing for old and young, representing the two extremes of church life, to come together. Some had feared that the Epworth League would make two churches, separating the young and the old, but if every League was like the one of the First church it would serve to cement the fellowship between the two. They need each other. The old folks want the cheerfulness and vivacity of youth to inspire them and the young need the experience and wisdom of their elders to guide them. They need to see how beautifully people grow old in the service of God.

Mrs. Rider gave a report of the number present and some interesting facts concerning their ages and then Rev. Woodside asked some of the older ones present to tell some of their experiences. Samuel Wright urged upon the young people the value of obedience to God's commands. A thing must be done at the right time and in the right way to be worth anything and obedience is better than sacrifices. Mrs. Mary Hyzer spoke of the glorious richness of Christianity and the grandness of life's opportunity. She said she had never felt so rich in her life as she did the night before the church memorial service for President McKinley. Mrs. Tracy thanked the young people for her invitation and for the pleasant time she had enjoyed. She then gave some very interesting reminiscences of her childhood, her trip from New England to Janesville in 1849 and the first few days, including the first Sunday of her life here.

During the delightful service the company joined in singing some of the old-time favorites, such as "How Firm a Foundation," "Come Thou Fount of Every Blessing," and others. Mrs. Woodside playing the organ accompaniments. At 7:30 o'clock good nights were said. The credit for an unusually delightful evening is due to the literary and social departments of the Epworth League of which committees Mrs. Stevens and Miss Elva Crawford are the chairmen. The entire membership of the League united in furnishing the supper.

W. T. Vankirk Returns Home. W. T. Vankirk returned home from his eastern business and pleasure trip. He was in Philadelphia on Saturday morning when he heard of the president's death and he hastened at once to New York and then back to Buffalo where he remained for four days. He was in Buffalo for the president's funeral there and was admitted to and escorted through the special funeral train which bore the remains and the presidential party to Washington. Mr. Vankirk's trip was a memorable one but he says it is impossible to imagine the deep solemnity of the days spent in Buffalo and of the journey home. Before he left Philadelphia on the morning after the president's death it was draped in mourning. New York and Buffalo were great masses of the emblems of woe and after leaving Buffalo for home the journey lay through city after city heavily draped while the signs of grief fluted from the farmhouses that lay between. The entire country was in mourning.

Mr. Vankirk's trip was a memorable one but he says it is impossible to imagine the deep solemnity of the days spent in Buffalo and of the journey home. Before he left Philadelphia on the morning after the president's death it was draped in mourning. New York and Buffalo were great masses of the emblems of woe and after leaving Buffalo for home the journey lay through city after city heavily draped while the signs of grief fluted from the farmhouses that lay between. The entire country was in mourning.

W. T. Vankirk returned home from his eastern business and pleasure trip. He was in Philadelphia on Saturday morning when he heard of the president's death and he hastened at once to New York and then back to Buffalo where he remained for four days. He was in Buffalo for the president's funeral there and was admitted to and escorted through the special funeral train which bore the remains and the presidential party to Washington. Mr. Vankirk's trip was a memorable one but he says it is impossible to imagine the deep solemnity of the days spent in Buffalo and of the journey home. Before he left Philadelphia on the morning after the president's death it was draped in mourning. New York and Buffalo were great masses of the emblems of woe and after leaving Buffalo for home the journey lay through city after city heavily draped while the signs of grief fluted from the farmhouses that lay between. OTIS SKINNER AT GRAND, OCTOBER 21

Manager Myers Succeeds in Getting a Contract from the Great Actor—Guarantee High.

Otis Skinner will present the beautiful romantic tragedy "Francesca da Rimini" at the Myers Grand on Monday evening, October 21. Manager P. L. Myers received the contracts this morning and signed them, notwithstanding the fact that he had to give the largest guarantee ever given to bring any attraction to a local theater.

Otis Skinner is one of the best and most conscientious actors on the stage and he has been making rapid strides upward in his profession during the past few years. When he presented this new play in Chicago a few weeks ago, the dramatic critics of that city announced that "Mr. Skinner had stepped above the rank and file and fallen in line with the leading geniuses of the stage, such as Mansfield, Irving and a few other illustrious names."

Like them he is outgrowing one night stands in small cities and probably he will not pay Janesville many more visits. Certainly he will never come again unless he plays to at least a thousand-dollar house. Janesville is very fortunate in securing him this year and probably would not have secured him had it not been for the grateful remembrance by Mr. Skinner and his manager of the enthusiasm and appreciation with which he has always been received here, as well as for the enterprise of Manager Myers. Even if he plays to the full capacity of the house he will make but very little money for himself, the guarantee is so high and Mr. Skinner's percentage of the balance of the receipts is so large. These terms are necessary to Mr. Skinner as his production is a very expensive one. To play in this city he comes from Davenport, Iowa, and the night after he is here he plays in Toledo, Ohio.

Evansville, Beloit, Edgerton and other surrounding cities will be billed and will doubtless add large theatre parties, as they always have when Mr. Skinner is here. There will be a subscription sale of seats and the subscription list will be ready for signatures at the Peoples' Drug store Wednesday, October 2. It will be only for $1.50 seats. The scale of prices for the attraction will be orchestra and four front rows of the balcony $1.50; balance of the balcony $1; four rows in front gallery, reserved seats 75 cents; balance of gallery, unreserved, 50 cents. Box seats $3 each.

Woodmen and Royal Neighbors' Social. Florence Camp M. W. of A. and R. N. of A. will give a farewell social in honor of C. E. Brown and wife at West Side Old Fellows' hall on Monday evening, September 23. Supper served at 8:30, followed by a program. Modern Woodmen and wives and Royal Neighbors and husbands are cordially invited to attend.

CLAIMED BY DEATH.

F. E. Burdick Dead. Word was received today by friends in this city that F. E. Burdick died very suddenly on Thursday, last at El Paso, Texas. His wife and father were with him at the time of his death. He will probably be buried in Chicago. His wife will be remembered as Miss Blanche Hays ward, formerly of this city. She is the sympathy of a large circle of a large circle of friends.

Funeral of W. J. Warring. The remains of William J. Warring, 44 years of age, a former resident of this city arrived here from Chicago this morning at 11:47. His death occurred September 20 from softening of the brain. The remains were taken direct to Oak Hill cemetery where a short service was conducted by the Rev. J. A. M. Richey. Mr. Warring's mother was buried in this city, October 10, 1888.

JOHN M. ROACH FUNERAL

The funeral of the late John M. Roach was held this morning at 10:30 o'clock from St. Patrick's church. Solemn requiem mass was celebrated by Rev. Dean E. M. McGinley and Rev. J. J. Collins. A large number of friends gathered at the church to pay their last respects to the deceased and followed the body to the grave. The interment was at Mount Olivet.

The pall bearers were Bartley Fanning, M. Gagan, E. Courtney, Jas. McGowan, Thomas Murray and Thos. Macklin. Among those present in the services from out of the city were Mike Gallagher and wife and Walter Mooney of Chicago.

THE KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS ORDER

Local Lodge of the New Catholic Fraternity Will Be Organized in Beloit.

Beloit, Wis., Sept. 21.—[Special]—A local lodge of the Knights of Columbus will be organized in this city tomorrow. It is expected that over 300 visitors from all parts of the state will be present.

The Madison and Janesville delegations numbering over 100 strong, will arrive at 10:30 o'clock, and will be escorted from the depot to the hall by Smith's band of Janesville, which arrives with the delegates.

There are seventy-five candidates for membership in the local lodge who will be initiated by ex-Attorney General John L. O'Connor of Milwaukee. The services will be continued throughout the day, and in the evening a banquet will be given at Hanchett's hall. Among those who will be present and speak are Rev. Father Ward, attorney Frank Clory, Rev. W. A. Goebel, John L. Mahoney and J. J. Cunningham, Janesville; H. J. Killilea and others from Milwaukee.

A movement is on foot to erect a new $30,000 gymnasium on the college grounds. The directors have talked the matters over and seem to favor it.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy a Great Favorite.

The soothing and healing properties of this remedy, its pleasant taste and prompt and permanent cures have made it a great favorite with people everywhere. It is especially prized by mothers of small children for colds, croup and whooping cough, as it always affords quick relief,

The Tobacco Market

About a lot of the tobacco that was anywhere near ready to cut has been harvested and put in the sheds out of the way of the frost. The early part of the week found at least a third of the tobacco in the county still in the fields and a majority of it not fit to cut.

The frost of Tuesday night set the growers to thinking, and no time was lost by them in cutting down what they had standing. They preferred taking a chance of getting something for green tobacco rather than have it frozen.

The dealers do not seem exceedingly anxious to buy the crop before it has cured out and are waiting to see what it looks like before investing.

It was too bad that the first part of the month was warm and dry as the late tobacco bid fair to be the best part of the crop and needed some warm weather and put it in condition for shedding. Two weeks of warm weather meant many thousands of dollars to the farmers of Rock county.

The cold wave that swept down upon us early in the week, together with the frost warnings sent out by the weather bureau has prompted a vast deal of hustling among tobacco growers. Every available hand has been working long hours in an endeavor to secure as much of the outstanding crop as possible. Many fields have been cut and piled in an effort to beat out the frost king. The harvest is now delayed so near the usual frost line that every change in the weather is viewed with alarm by farmers who have tobacco in the fields. A light frost came Wednesday morning to sear vegetation. The scare has probably caused some unripe tobacco to be sacrificed and if the promised frosts had come it would have caught more tobacco in the fields than in a great many years past. The danger seems past now until the next storm period.

There has been great activity in the harvest of the belated crop the past few days, prompted by the cold wave and the threatened frost, and it is seldom if ever so much tobacco has been rushed to the curing sheds in the same given time. Possibly some fields have been cut in an unripe condition, but the growers were determined to save as much as possible of crop that has come up under all kinds of difficulties. By the close of the present week but little tobacco of much consequence will be left standing in the fields.

The movement of buying the now crop has lapsed into very quiet methods even in the Vernon county district where the buying has taken place almost exclusively of late. Some buyers are still riding here but sales are only occasional features. Growers are reported as holding firmly to former prices.

Several out-of-town dealers have been looking through the local markets for old goods during the week and some trades are under advisement, but generally speaking transactions are few.—Edgerton Reporter.

Storm Sweeps the Azores. Lisbon, Sept. 21.—A hurricane has swept over the Azores. The chief sufferers were those on the islands of Flores and Corvo, where there was serious loss of life owing to the collapse of buildings. The governor cables asking for relief for the people. He says he is unable to state the extent of the devastation owing to the destruction of the telegraph lines.

Soldier Killed in Fight.

Fort Meade, S. D., Sept. 21.—One soldier is dead and two wounded as the result of an attempt to capture a demented trooper in the barracks-room here. It is believed all three were shot by the guard, who was firing at the crazy man. Private George Lynch of Cavalry troop 13, after discharge from the mess house, seized his carbine and, entering the mess room, began shooting. The guard was summoned and he, also, used a gun. In the fight that followed Sentry McAninch was killed and Lynch and Private Caldwell were wounded. Both will recover.

Just Between Ourselves

We have read with a great deal of interest and feeling of amusement during these sad days, of the summary treatment administered in many cities throughout the country to people who dared give voice to a feeling of sympathy with the dastardly deed of the assassin, Czolgosz. Heartless remarks about our martyred president have in many instances been quickly punished in most unique ways. Men who heard of the great crime perpetrated not only against William McKinley, but against the lofty liberty of this people with a careless shrug of the shoulders, a traitorous expression of the pleasure and the wish that the blow had fallen long ago, have doubtless been surprised to find themselves, ere the words were out of their mouth, in the midst of an excited crowd roused to action by the heartless words so out of harmony with the national spirit.

Out in the state of Washington a young man was almost pounded to death by an old veteran because he said he rejoiced in the deed of the assassin. In Maryland, a minister was tarred and feathered by an enraged people because from his pulpit last Sunday he belittled the name of William McKinley, calling him a political demagogue, and saying that more lies had been told concerning him from the pulpit of the country that day than ever before in the history of the church.

An old veteran was turned out of the soldier's home because of his disloyal remarks concerning the chief of the nation which gave him a home. In other places county aid has been taken away from dependent residents who had neither the grace of heart or lip to keep their inhumanity to themselves. Men have been ducked in water, warned out of the community and in several instances there have been narrow escapes from lynching.

We read the stories, smile at them and perhaps our hearts beat in sympathy with the inflicting of some sort of punishment, but still we scarcely credit them. Such things we are inclined to credit to the inventive genius of some enterprising newspaper correspondent. But a similar incident did happen here in our very midst. There was no lynching, no tarring and feathering, but there was a narrow escape from personal violence and a local drayman is today feeling the result of a punishment much more effective and lasting than a coat of tar or a ride on a rail—a boycott.

The boycott is not an organized one but it is daily becoming more general as the story is noised about and it is strong enough now to make the victim feel very uncomfortable. When the news of the assassination of the president came to the city this drayman said that he was glad of it and wished that the bullet had killed him. When he made the statement he was at the store of a west-side merchant, noted for his impetuosity, his patriotism and his intense loyalty to all things American. The merchant is inclined to be hotheaded. He made a rush for the drayman and spectators say that he would certainly have knocked him down with the hatchet which he snatched up if his business partner had not interfered.

As it was the drayman was driven from the premises, told never to set his foot in the store again and emphatically assured that he would never get another dollar's worth of draying from that firm.

Other business men, who had been accustomed to hire this drayman, heard the story, investigated it, and found it to be true and in almost every instance they went to the drayman and told him that they would not require his services again. The business men who have taken this action formed no combine. They acted as individuals, obeying the dictations of their own loyalty which demanded of them, that they should not encourage with their patronage a man who is openly antagonistic to the American government and who interprets a noble liberty as lawless license.

During the last few days many beautiful things have been done in honor of the memory of the great and good man who has been graduated from life's school into the higher university of God's eternal city. Much of the homage has been paid before the eyes of a sympathetic world, but many tributes have been paid of which the public will never know. Time, money, effort and thought have been lavishly spent to make a memorial such as the world has never known and will probably never know again. It was a memorial of the people and no more loving service was rendered than that given by the eight men who after a hard day's work sacrificed their night's sleep in order that the street cars of Janesville might be appropriately draped in honor of the fallen chief.

In the silent watches of the night while the busy world was asleep these eight men, employees of the Janesville Street Railway company, worked faithfully all night, taking up the burden of the day's work again in the morning. Few of the people who joined in the general admiration of the decoration of the cars, thought of the hours of labor, which means much more because it was done at the sacrifice of physical comfort, which the decorations represented. The work was done under the direction of Supt. George J. Hurd and his son, to whom the praise for the artistic designing is due.

As a part of the memorial exercises in the public schools last Wednesday one of the teachers in a lower grade provided a set of pictures taken from newspapers, of people, places and incidents connected with the assassination of President McKinley. These pictures were passed around among the scholars in order to impress the facts of the great tragedy upon their minds to illustrate the informal talk which the teacher gave and to make the children familiar with the appearance of the people and places which have been prominent in the eyes of the public for the last two weeks. It was an interesting feature of the memorial exercise and the children looked at the pictures with great interest. Presently the teacher glanced toward the seat where sat a little urchin of Irish parentage. He was holding the picture of Czolgosz out in front of him in his left hand and with his right hand he was "punching" the pictured face of the assassin good and plenty.

The five minutes of silence last Thursday afternoon was observed at the Chicago & Northwestern roundhouse. When the bell sounded the hour of half past two o'clock every employe dropped his work and stood with bowed head in perfect silence. Suddenly the solemn stillness was sharply broken by the insistent ringing of the telephone bell. The jangle of the bell seemed impertinent and almost like a sacrilege to the men who stood in subdued silence and sorrow. Not a man stirred and the telephone's call went unanswered.

"TRUE KENTUCKIAN"

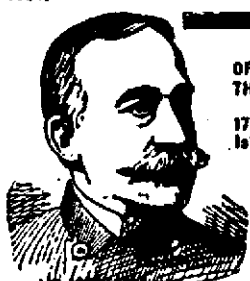

Last Appearance of the Backman Comedy Company at the Myers Grand Tonight.

By far the best play of the week was given by the Backman Comedy company at the Myers Grand last evening. The play presented was "A Man of Mystery" an intensely interesting melodrama full of strong situations and abounding in comedy. The members of the company seemed especially fitted for the work in this play and every part was well-taken; each actor and actress finding opportunity for their best work in this play. The production of last evening was superior to many performances seen at higher prices. There was a large and very appreciative audience and the production gave the best of satisfaction.

This afternoon a large audience was delighted with a splendid presentation of that pretty play, "Fanchon, the Cricket." Tonight the company will close its engagement in this city with "A True Kentuckian," one of the best plays in the repertoire of the company and one that has never been presented in this city. At the close of the performance the drawing for the three $5 gold pieces will be held and the prizes awarded to the holders of the lucky numbers.

A NOTED PHYSICIAN,

Doctor Wanata, of Lansing, Mich.,

Says There is Nothing in the Materia Medica that Equals Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for the Cure of Woman's Ills.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—The honest, intelligent physician is above the 'School.' Whatever is best in each case should be used, no matter to what school a physician belongs. I, as a matter of conscience, can only prescribe the best, and as I know and have proven that there is nothing in Materia Medica which equals Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in severe cases of female disorders, I unhesitatingly prescribe it, and have never yet been sorry.

"I know of nothing better for ovarian troubles and for falling of the womb or ulcerations; it absolutely restores the affected parts to their normal condition quicker and better than anything else. I have known it to cure barrenness in women, who to-day are happy mothers of children, and while the medical profession looks down upon 'patents,' I have learned, instead, to look up to the healing potion, by whatever name it be known. If my fellow physicians dared tell the truth, hundreds of them would voice my sentiments."—DR. WANATA, Lansing, Mich.

DR. WANATA.

As Dr. Wanata says, if physicians dared to be frank and open, hundreds of them would acknowledge that they constantly prescribe Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in severe cases of female ill, as they know by experience that it can be relied upon to effect a cure.

Women who are troubled with painful or irregular menstruation, backache, bloating (or flatulence), leucorrhoea, falling, inflammation or ulceration of the uterus, ovarian troubles, that "bearing-down" feeling, dizziness, faintness, indigestion, nervous prostration or the blues should take immediate action to ward off the serious consequences, and be restored to perfect health and strength by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and then write to Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., for further free advice. No living person has had such a vast and successful experience in treating female ill. She has guided thousands to health. Every suffering woman should ask for and follow her advice.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has carried hundreds of women through the periods of child bearing and change of life in perfect comfort and safety.

A medicine that has restored so many women to health and can produce proof of the fact must be regarded with respect. This is the record of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which cannot be equalled by any other medicine the world has ever produced.

It is well to remember these facts when some druggist tries to get you to buy something which he says is "just as good." That is impossible, as no other medicine has such a record of cures as Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound; so do not experiment with untried medicines.

$5000 REWARD.—We have deposited with the National City Bank of Lynn, $5000, which will be paid to any person who can find that the above testimonial letter is not genuine, or was published before obtaining the writer's special permission. Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass.

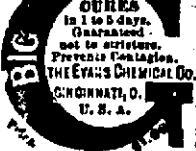

NO ONE BUT A MOTHER can appreciate the benefit sleep gives to an ailing, teething, feverish, colicky, fretful infant. Almost distracted by its constant crying, and worn out with weary, anxious care and watching, she tries everything possible to obtain even relief for the little sufferer.

With what comfort and delight she sees her little one drop off into a deep peaceful health-giving slumber, after its little clogged bowels are cleared of their poisonous burden by a single dose of Laxakola, the great tonic laxative and mother's remedy.

Laxakola is a pure, gentle and painless liquid laxative, and contains valuable tonic properties which not only act upon the bowels, but tone up the entire system and purify the blood. A few drops can be given with safety to very young babies, which will often relieve colic by expelling the wind and gas that cause it. Great relief is experienced when administered to young children suffering from diarrhea, accompanied with white or green evacuations, as it neutralizes the acidity of the bowels and carries out the cause of the fermentation. LAXAKOLA will aid digestion, relieve restlessness, assist nature, and induce sleep. For constipation, simple fevers, coated tongue, or any infantile troubles arising from a disordered condition of the stomach it is invaluable.

Laxakola, the great tonic laxative, is not only the most efficient of family remedies, but the most economical, because it combines two medicines, viz: laxative and tonic, and at one price. No other remedy gives so much for the money. At druggists, 50c and 75c, or send for free sample to T. H. LAXAKOLA CO., 132 Nassau Street, N. Y., or 355 Dearborn Street, Chicago.

THE COMPOSITE MAN

There is nothing of which the human family is so ignorant as the construction of their own bodies, and the gross neglect of these bodies, either through ignorance or carelessness, is the cause of more suffering and untimely death, than all other causes combined.

The average man or woman simply know that they have a body and they hardly appreciate that fact until it causes pain. The study of anatomy is seldom carried beyond the school room, and the knowledge there acquired is seldom applied, and frequently forgotten. The study is today for an every day diet and it is easily ignored, and its teachings readily forgotten.

Appreciating these conditions and with a desire to help humanity to a better knowledge of itself E. H. Pratt, A. M., M. D., LL. D., of Chicago, has recently issued the second edition of a book containing about 150 pages, and styled, "The Composite Man."

This book is the most interesting work on the construction of the human body yet published. It should be adopted as a text book in every school and be found in every home. The author has skillfully divided the body into thirteen different parts, The bony, muscular, arterial, venous, lymphatic, skin, connective tissue, cerebro-spinal, tubular, sympathetic organs, conscious and sub-conscious, and out of these parts produced "The Composite Man."

An entertaining chapter illustrated, is devoted to each part, and the individual part talks to the readers with so much fascination that the story sounds like a novel, and when it is read a complete knowledge of the construction of the human body has been observed.

Dr. Pratt is eminent authority and needs no introduction to Gazette readers.

The price of the book which may be had at any book store, or of the doctor at 100, State St., Chicago, is $1.50. It is worth a five dollar bill to any home.

Cured of Chronic Diarrhoea After Thirty Years of Suffering.

"I suffered for thirty years with diarrhoea and thought I was past being cured," says John S. Halloway, of French Camp, Miss. "I had spent so much time and money and suffered so much that I had given up all hopes of recovery. I was so feeble from the effects of the diarrhoea that I could do no kind of labor, could not even travel, but by accident I was permitted to find a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, and after taking several bottles I am entirely cured of that trouble. I am so pleased with the result that I am anxious that it be in reach of all who suffer as I have." For sale by King's pharmacy and People's Drug Co.

Getting Even with Her.

"You may tell him," she said laughingly, "that do not care to meet people who deal in dressed beef." Naturally this proud eastern aristocrat thought she had him properly the way of reply, "that whatever I have," he said, "I will put it on the market in at least dressed."

Then he looked long and fixedly at the décolleté daughter.

She Knew Him.

"You needn't put the stamp on that letter," she said. "I'll do it." "But why shouldn't I?" he asked. "Because," she replied, "it puts a bad taste in your mouth and you always have to go to the club to get something to take it out. The taste of the gum isn't pleasant, but it doesn't effect me so seriously."

Her View of It.

"Mine!" cried the lordling. "All mine!" And he undertook to draw the girl to him. "Yours," retorted the beautiful but sophisticated maiden of wealth drawing away. "Well I guess not. You've got it wrong. I'm simply investing in a husband and title as an addition to my establishment."

"Give me a synonym for success," said the teacher. "Marriage!" cried the demure little girl in the back seat.

Constantly in Practice

"He seems to be very quick on his feet." "You bet he is. It comes of constant practice."

"Constant practice?" "Yes. He rides on the trolley car during the rush hours morning and evening when they don't stop, and after flipping on he has to stand in the aisle and balance himself for a good three miles. It would be mighty funny if he didn't learn to be quick."

Students Are Reinstated.

London, Sept. 21.—The Odessa correspondent of the Times says a telegram from St. Petersburg announces that twenty-seven students who were drafted into the army as common soldiers, for participation in various students' disturbances, have been reinstated on the recommendation of M. Vannofsky, minister of education.

A Strong Woman

Iowa City, Iowa, Aug. 15, 1900.
My wife was sick for three years. We tried everything without relief and spent much money. My wife tried Wine of Cardui and four bottles cured her. She took two more bottles, knowing she would have to work hard during the hay harvest. She attended to all her household duties and loaded and unloaded all the hay. This medicine gave her strength. Formerly she was weak and tired and could hardly get about, but since she has been taking Wine of Cardui she feels better and stronger than when 20 years of age. JOS. A. EISENHAFFER.

Mrs. Eisenhafer had tried everything during her three years sickness and had spent considerable money. She was weak and could hardly get about for three years before she took

WINE OF CARDUI

Now, after taking the Wine of Cardui, she can work with her husband in the hay field. That is hard work, but it is not as injurious to a woman's health as labor in stores, factories and offices where thousands of girls are closely confined year after year. With the aid of Wine of Cardui a woman can do any reasonable work and enjoy good health. The health that Wine of Cardui brings makes a woman vigorous in body and mind. Freed from these terrible devastating pains a woman grows well and strong naturally. Wine of Cardui regulates the disordered menstruation and cures leucorrhoea, falling of the womb and periodical pains in the head and back caused by standing or sitting a long time in the same position. Theodor's Black-Draught puts the bowels, stomach, liver, kidneys and blood in proper shape. Greatly increased strength and endurance is the natural result. Most cases are cured quickly. All druggists sell $1.00 bottles of Wine of Cardui and 25 cent packages of Theodor's Black-Draught.
